I am afraid my children are being harmed psychologically and I'm afraid they may be abducted, again, by the defendant.

Reasons for Request (continued) sent adult males, unknown to plaintiff, to his house, demanding to see the children. The police were involved in all of these incidents (there are multiple reports from Madison, CT, PD). Since Monday when the emergency request was again denied without reason, the defendant has published additional information which causes the children great distress. One of the children got into a physical altercation because she was so brutally ridiculed by peers based on info. the defendant published. The defendant is also cryptically letting the plaintiff know she is watching his house and knows the children's schedule. He is worried that defendant may again abduct the children.
